

Avian Flu in Wild Bird Populations

Note: As of 4/6/06, there is no evidence of the H5N1 virus (Avian Flu) having made its way into bird populations in the Pacific Northwest. However, many experts are predicting that it could happen as soon as this year, most likely during the autumn.

This information is designed to educate islanders before that happens.

Frequently Asked Questions About Bird Flu in Wild Birds

Frequently Asked Questions About Bird Flu for Owners of Domestic Birds

Guidance for Disposal of Remains of Dead Birds

General Avian Flu Information for People